According to the Puranas, when Vasudeva was born from the perspiration of Lord Shiva, the Lord pacified him and made his huge body the 'Abode of all Gods'. He then blessed him as an embodiment of His power and granted him a boon that he would thenceforth be worshipped before taking up construction and at the time of an initiation of entrance into every house, temple, building and sacrificial altar, and also that wherever he resided, he would always be accompanied by all the 45 deities.
